

WIKI no longer being updated

Unfortunately for us, the Quandl WIKI database is no longer being updated. The last data point is April 11 2018.

This is a message by the Quandl team on the WIKI Price page: "As of April 11, 2018 this data feed is no longer actively supported by the Quandl community. We will continue to host this data feed on Quandl, but we do not recommend using it for investment or analysis"

Workaround

But don't worry, all is not lost!

In the next few lectures, I'll show you how to collect free data from Yahoo Finance instead.
